

MINE WORKERS IN

THE FEDERAL COURTS.

Two National Organizers Sentenced to Jail Six Months in Virginia.

VIOLATED RESTRAINING ORDER AND WERE HELD IN CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 29.—The United Mine Workers are making preparations for a bout with the United States Circuit Court of Virginia, and action may be taken next week. A few days ago the judge of the district sitting at Lynchburg found John Haddow, of Iowa, and W. H. Webber, of Illinois, national organizers of the miners, guilty of contempt of court was that these men had violated an order restraining them from efforts to unionize the miners.

SAYS BECKHAM CAN'T

SUCCCEED HIMSELF

John G. Carlisle Said to Have Stated That the Governor is Not Eligible for Re-Election.

MAY BE SETTLED BY COURTS.

Frankfort, Ky., April 1.—The question as to Gov. Beckham's eligibility to succeed himself as Governor is to be reopened, according to a statement of a gentleman who has just returned from Washington. Some months ago, when some of Gov. Beckham's friends looked up the question, ex-Chief Justice Pryor and other good lawyers expressed the opinion that, as Beckham is only serving out Cioebel's unexpired term, he was undoubtedly eligible for the succeeding full four years' term. The public accepted the opinion as being correct, and all calculations for the next State convention have been made with Beckham as an eligible candidate for Governor.

It seems, however, that those who oppose Beckham for the governorship have been investigating the eligibility feature on their own hook, and have consulted several eminent law specialists, one of whom is John G. Carlisle, now of New York. He, it is said, has given a written opinion on the subject, which cites various sections of the constitution and decisions of high courts, and concludes by saying that, in his opinion, Beckham is not eligible to succeed himself.

This opinion is said to be in the possession of a well-known politician, and will be made public at such time as he thinks proper, along with the opinions of others who take the same view.

Just how the question can be finally determined cannot be even guessed at, for it will have to be passed on by the Court of Appeals before it become a finality, and how the test suit will be brought is a knotty question, but it is asserted that a final decision will be brought about in some way.

The news will certainly cause a stir among the politicians, because the question had been looked upon as settled. A lively controversy is looked for and the final decision may be delayed until next year, when it is believed the Court of Appeal will contain a majority of Democrats.—Inquirer.

ART ENTERTAINMENT

Ladies Perfecting Plans and Costumes for Home Talent Tableaux and Drills.

DATE CHANGED TO THURSDAY NIGHT

Another rehearsal was held last night by the ladies who will next week produce the Art Entertainment for benefit of our public school fund. The fancy drills are now well in hand and the ranks full. Costumes and decorations are about complete and several dress rehearsals will be gone through before the entertainment is presented next Thursday night.

The tableaux vivants are all planned and promise to prove very attractive. The little girls' drill, mentioned last week, by little girls of the public school, under management of Miss Minnie Bourland, is approaching perfection.

The date, which was last week announced for Wednesday night, has, for good reasons, been changed to Thursday night, April 10th. Certain at 8:15 sharp. Remember the date.

This is the first home talent entertainment that has been offered during the season in Earlinton. It will be attractive and enjoyable and is for a most worthy cause. Temple Theater should be packed by Earlinton people who have as yet had no opportunity to do anything for our public schools.

TRAIN DISPATCHER CRAZY.

Forty Years of Work Wears Out Joseph Ehret's Mind.

An Evansville dispatch says: For almost 40 years Joseph Ehret held the lives of thousands on the tips of his fingers every day. He was a train dispatcher and the silken thread of life of every employe of the road and every traveler who jauntily boarded one of the E. & T. H. trains was wrapped around his nimble fingers.

The false touch of a key, the error of a minute sometimes would have sent hundreds of souls into eternity. But the false touch was never made, the little awful moment of neglect or forgetfulness that hallowed the lives of so many train dispatchers, was never made by Joseph Ehret.

Year in and year out he was always the same methodical, prompt, active and attentive man. His life was centered around the little telegraph key on his desk, which controlled a railroad system.

There is another man at the key to day. The trains run just the same, there is no stop of hitch in the working of the system. Another man, just as good and just as attentive to his duty as Ehret was, has wrapped his life around the little tickler that holds the balance for so many lives.

Ehret will never sit at his favorite place again. He is a wreck, physically and mentally. Last night the police were asked to locate him and hold him at headquarters until some provision for his entrance to an institution could be made. He wandered away from his boarding house, 14 Upper Seventh street. The strain that had been wearing on his nerves and muscles and brain for almost half a century overthrew his reason.—Inquirer.

Don't make the mistake of supposing you are the only one in the world who is fighting "the good fight." There are others.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

It should indeed be a warning to our young miners when they review the history of some young men who were once contented and prosperous miners, but who were beguiled by the deceitful tales told them by the U. M. W. agitators and led into an organization who's influence had led them from the paths of right and justice to that of degradation, until now, we are informed, they are refugees from justice, hiding in one state and another, pursued by officers of the law armed with warrants of arrest charging them with crime. One of them, we are told, was only last week arrested in one of our neighboring states and brought back to Kentucky to answer the charge of murder which the influence of bad associates and advisers led him to commit. If the charge is true as made, and this is only the natural result likely to follow the association with an organization some of whom have the past year been charged with waylaying innocent men in the discharge of their sworn duty en route to work, and under cover of the night have time after time attempted to take life. If these charges are true, can you expect a young man who allies himself with men of unsavory reputation to lead a Christian life? Idleness, we are told, begets crime, and when these young men quit work, for which they received good wages, to accept a place with the common saloon hound, and to subsist on a few cents per day, their best friends could see their fate was sealed and their downfall was assured.

It is said that in Virginia two fellows thought they could ignore the order of Uncle Sam's court, when they were told that intimidation would not be allowed, and so by threats and otherwise strove to intimidate with the result that they were tried and convicted and were sent to jail for six months each, and the rumor is afloat that some of our own citizens are so conducting themselves as to lay themselves liable to similar action by a court over which His Honor, Judge Evans, presides, and to such a degree has threats and other forms of intimidation been carried on in this county by the U. M. W. and sympathizers that many timid miners have at times hesitated about going by themselves to and from work, and in some cases assurance of protection was a necessary inducement. This is all wrong in a county where everyone is guaranteed freedom of word and action when in the right, and a timely step has been taken in their behalf.

Facts continually leaking out indicate beyond a doubt that the U. M. W. have become tired of the colored brethren, and now the question arises, what offense has been committed, that now after they have robbed him of his all, a place to work and that at good wages, they threaten to throw him overboard after a year or more service as scapegoats of the men actually behind the guns, humbly submitting to persecution and prosecution, that the agitators might go free they are now to be cast aside, but the reason for this move may be that the colored member has become tired of being placed in the front rank as a target to be shot at and has so forcibly expressed himself and therefore being useless any further as a tool, they kick him out.

Mr. Richard Mercer, who died last Saturday, can safely be said to be one of the oldest miners in this county. After his was one of the nine entries in No. 9 mine named, at that time it was very popular here.

CAUGHT IN ILLINOIS.

Man Under Murder Indictment Placed in Jail at Hopkinsville.

Guy Reynolds, under indictment jointly with Jim Will Anderson, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Robt. H. Coffey, was arrested in Illinois and taken to Hopkinsville Saturday afternoon and placed in jail. Reynolds' home is in Hopkins county, near White Plains. He was captured by a special agent of the L. & N. railroad company.

Mrs. Ella Hawkins, who for some time past has been bookkeeper for the firm of J. M. Victory & Co., has gone to join her husband in Kansas City, Mo., where he is employed in a power house. We trust they may be successful and contented in their new home.

As a miner and still has a host of friends who were pained during the last few years to see him listen to the teachings of the labor leaders and connive himself with the U. M. W. of which he was a member who death came. With all his faults he was considered a man of grand qualities and an expert miner.

John Peyton, who has been assisting to construct a trestle at the South Diamond mine, was called home last week on account of sickness in his family.

Foreman Caviness and other machinists were employed last week for a day or so putting in a new fire box on one of the mine engines. Mr. Caviness is expecting a call to Dawson soon to do some important work.

Mr. J. B. Atkinson, President of the St. Bernard Mining Co., returned last week from the east where he had been called upon the sad mission of attending the funeral of a relative.

Two important meetings will come to the attention of our readers next week. One will be the executive meeting of the U. M. W. at Indianapolis and the other will be one held by Judge Dorsey and before whom Wood will appear on the charge of conspiracy to murder both meetings occurring on the same date. Business is pressing with him.

Another poor deer who up at Harnsley has been making an average of about sixty dollars per month working for the St. Bernard Co., last week joined the U. M. W. and hereafter will have to be content with about one fifth of the amount above named.

Why should the union miner, who in this county has long ago ceased to be a laborer, so strongly advocate the eight-hour law? We believe their record for the past year would not average an hour per day, so why don't they cry on the one hour per day law?

When young men who are able-bodied lay around and subsist upon annuities or a few cents daily, now do they expect to lay by a dollar for a rainy day or one of sickness?

The day upon which a strike was said to take place unless the managers of the coal companies in and around Central City surrendered all rights and agreed to the scale proposed by the Mine Workers, has, we understand, been postponed for a month; at the end of that time it is believed that a complete breakdown by the Mine Workers will take place and the old scale will be agreed to.

Rumor says that the operators of Southern Indiana contemplate shutting down their mines soon on account of failure to run with profit, and this is an example of what the granting from time to time regardless of the consequences, the unjust demands of organized labor will do who care not to live and let live, but are actuated solely from selfish purposes, and thus end lay without making a profit or per cent on investment, becomes tired and will lie low.

All men, both young and old, who failed to hear Prof. R. B. Shacklett, of Madisonville, talk at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at the Christian church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, missed both an intellectual and spiritual treat. His talk showed deep research and intelligent study of the subject, and was greatly enjoyed by those present. Arrangements will be made to have him lecture to a mass meeting at no far distant date, and all who miss the lecture will regret it. Remember the Y. M. C. A. meeting at the Christian church at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

Woman Suffrage in St. Thomas.

In view of the discussion concerning the purchase by the United States of the Danish Island of St. Thomas in the West Indies, it is interesting to note that leading men of Denmark have addressed the King, Ministers and Parliament, in a confidential and earnest petition, urging that no decision concerning the sale of the Island shall be made until the people of the Island itself have expressed their desire by popular vote. The woman suffragists of Denmark have co-operated with the promoters of this movement, and have secured a large number of signatures of prominent women in the kingdom.

A proposition so just should meet the unanimous approval of all fair-minded men and women in the United States. The co-operation of Denmark and the United States in securing the opinion of the men and women of St. Thomas before completing the purchase, would be far more in harmony with up-to-date democratic ideas than the imperialistic policies which have obtained in past centuries, and which are yet much in evidence. The United States is based distinctly upon the proposition of self-government, and surely the simplest form of self-government should be that by which a people will express their choice of Nations to which they are willing to become dependent.

Tallest Man on Earth.

Dame Nature has apparently outdone herself in Edward Beaupre, the young French-Canadian giant who bids fair to out rival the famous one-eyed giant Polyphemus, of Homer's time, while he overtops by several feet modern competitors.

Rapre, therefore, enjoys the proud distinction of being the tallest man on earth. He is thirty years old, tips the scales at 587 pounds and stands ten feet eleven inches high, his hands measuring nineteen inches, and his feet twenty-four inches by twelve wide. A two-yard tape measure barely encircles his chest.

Each of his trousers legs can contain the figures of two ordinary persons, and there is sufficient cloth in one of his suits to outfit six average men. The massive framework of each of his outstretched arms will bear the weight of three athletes. A man five feet ten inches by his side appears a mere pigmy.

One of the peculiarities about Beaupre is that his father and mother were of ordinary size. From youth he has been a great gymnast and has given much time to athletic sport.—New York Herald.

Russell Sage's Subscription.

Uncle Russell Sage has not been a bull since he sold his securities too low. Probably if something would knock the market off twenty or thirty points he would drag a few millions out of the chemical, buy some good stocks "cheap" and become a bull. Meanwhile he is saving up a few pennies for such a turn. A subscription list was passed around, where the subscribers were all promising anything from $2,000 down. Mrs. Sage was on the list for $100. When the list was handed to Uncle Russell he sat down with his pen, ready to add something. When he handed back the list "Mrs. Russell, $100!" had one cipher scratched out, and it read, "Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sage, $10."—New York Press.

Barlow & Wilson played Tuesday night at a good house and the audience seemed to enjoy the performance. There are good things about this show and some that are not so good. The two songs, "I've a Longing in My Heart for You, Louise," and "Hello, Central, Give Me Heaven" were sung and illustrated with moving pictures and they made up for all else that was lacking in the performance.

By this time Sweeney was coming down stairs and before he reached the bottom one of the men grabbed him in the collar and jerked him to the floor, when they both jumped on him and proceeded to give him a severe beating. Mrs. Egloff came to his assistance and finally got them separated. The trouble is said to have originated at Dyeveler's store yesterday evening, cause not known.

Many a school-girl is said to be lazy and shiftless when she doesn't deserve the least bit of it. She can't study, easily falls asleep, is nervous and tired all the time. And what can you expect? Hundreds of thousands of schoolgirls have taken it during the past 50 years. Many of these girls now have homes of their own. Strike Call Postponed.
At a meeting of the union miners at Central City this week it was determined to postpone the strike call until April 28th. In all probability this was done on account of labor troubles pending in southern Indiana, West Virginia and the anthracite regions. It would not do for too many of the union men to be out of work at the same time as their source of supplies would be cut off.

If the rich smugglers would quit smuggling it would not be necessary for the Secretary of the Treasury to jar their feelings every time they return from Europe.

Interchange of Courtesies Between the Neighbor Commanderies.

Last week was an active time for the Knights Templar of Hopkins county and both commanderies, the St. Bernard of Earlington, and Madisonville Commandery, were in their metal and ended with the other in the interchange of knightly courtesies.

The occasion was that of the annual inspection of these two Commanderies by the representative of the Grand Commandery of Kentucky, Col. Thos. J. Smith, of Bowling Green, Grand Captain General, was named as inspecting officer but was ill and, being unable to make the visit, sent in his stead Sir John H. Fenwick, a former citizen of Earlington and a veteran Mason.

On Thursday night of last week nine of the Earlington Sir Knights were present at the excellent work and delightful banquet at the inspection of Madisonville Commandery, and on the following evening about double that number of Madisonville Sir Knights returned the compliment and were guests of St. Bernard Commandery.

The banquet which was spread on the stage of Temple Theater was prepared by Mrs. Paul M. Moore, wife of Commander Paul M. Moore, of the Baby Commandery, assisted by Miss Constance A. Moore. Music and flowers enlivened the board at which forty Sir Knights refreshed themselves. The Madisonville Orchestra supplied the music.

Both Commanderies have more work in sight before the annual convocation.

McCreary's Little Ride.
(Washington Post.)

Once upon a time Senator-elect McCreary, of Kentucky, was invited to a public demonstration in his State, and accepted on condition that he should not be asked to make a speech. While he was sitting upon the platform twirling his thumbs, the Chairman of the meeting came to him in distress. The principal speaker had failed to appear, and would Governor McCreary take his place? Mr. McCreary protested that he was not prepared, but the chairman was insistent, and finally secured Mr. McCreary's promise to speak.

"When I go out upon the platform," whispered McCreary to the leader of the band, "play as loud and as fast as you can, and don't let anybody stop you until you see me take my seat again."

Mr. McCreary stepped forward. The band began to play. The Chairman tried in vain to stop the music. McCreary's lips were moving and his arms were gesticulating, but the sound of his voice could not be heard. Finally he took his seat. Then, and not until then, did the perspiring musicians subside.

"Now will you speak again?" asked the Chairman of the meeting, when quiet was restored. "No, indeed," replied McCreary, "I have really said all that I can say upon this subject."

Married by Telegraph.
Some years ago Miss Lizzie Hummons, of this city, was married to Mr. Wheeler, a soldier in the Spanish war, by telegraph. Other marriages have since been consummated by telephone. Legally, we suppose these marriages are good, but from a personal standpoint they are objectionable. The distance is too great.—Winchester Sentinel.

12 Minutes for Lunch.

That is the average time spent in a large city restaurant by three thousand lunchers. It takes three hours to digest a fresh egg soft boiled; three hours to digest a boiled dumpling; three hours to digest fresh roast beef. In fact, three hours is about the time required to digest the average twelve minute lunch. The object of the hasty lunch is to let the busy man get back to his office work. But when the brain is active, the stomach is inactive for lack of necessary blood. The natural consequence is indigestion, and indigestion opens the door to many diseases.

Indigestion is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

It is with heartfelt gratitude that I will this afternoon write to you. My name and address: writes Mr. Willis S. of Washington, D. C. "I had stomach trouble from childhood and suffered with it until I was 25 years old. At 25 I was broken down with dyspepsia. My sufferings were terrible. Could not eat without distress. Could only eat a few certain things and was not able to work. Had a doctor who tried only gave me temporary relief. My wife finally persuaded me to take Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I took bottles after bottles, and finally got my health. I am now a healthy man and a successful business man. I am 35 years old and this is the first time I have ever been so well."

NEW HEAD OF NAVY

MASSACHUSETTS MAN WHO LOOKS LIKE THE PRESIDENT.

Why William H. Moody Was Selected For High Office—Noted For Years—Tactfulness and Honesty of Purpose—Personal Characteristics.

The new secretary of the navy, William H. Moody, secretary of the navy, President Roosevelt, in his appointment and in his manner. Mr. Moody is not quite as tall as the president, nor does he wear glasses; but, like him, he is thickly bearded. He has, moreover, the same easy, sure style of talking and the quick, nervous habit of cutting off his words. Indeed he has frequently been pointed out in the house of representatives as President Roosevelt's double.

In selecting Mr. Moody to succeed John D. Long the president, it is said, was actuated by several motives. One is that he has the highest opinion of Mr. Moody's abilities and personal qualities, and his judgment and tact. Another is that he has a personal liking for him. The two men have a great deal in common. They have similar tastes, are both Harvard men and think alike on many questions.

Another good reason for the selection is that Mr. Moody is one of the most popular men in the house. In the cabinet he will be the connecting link between the executive and legislative branches of the government. The present cabinet is handicapped in that there is no man in it who has seen service in either branch of congress, which is rather a disadvantage.

William H. Moody was born in Newbury, Mass., forty-nine years ago and is therefore five years older than the president. He was graduated from Harvard in 1870, the year that Roosevelt entered the university.

After Mr. Moody left college he settled in Haverhill, Mass., and began the practice of law. By hard work and close application to his profession he became one of the foremost criminal lawyers in the state. In fact, one of the secrets of Mr. Moody's success in whatever he has undertaken has been hard and persistent work.

From 1890 until 1905 he was district attorney for the eastern district of

WILLIAM H. MOODY.

Massachusetts. During this period Mr. Moody added to his reputation by his work as assistant prosecutor of Lisie Borden in the famous Fall River murder trial. Although the case was not in his district, his services were secured to assist in the prosecution.

Mr. Moody first went to congress to fill a vacancy caused by the death of General Cogswell in 1893. Speaker Reed took a great fancy to him and encouraged him by an appointment to the important appropriations committee, and for the last three congresses Mr. Moody has taken a prominent part in all legislation to meet the expenses of the nation, the experience familiarizing him with all the details of the federal government. In this capacity he has paid particular attention to naval affairs. Two years ago in the debate over an appropriation for hydrographic surveys he opposed the detachment of naval officers for survey work, but eventually supported ocean surveys by naval vessels on their regular cruises, and it was he who secured the adoption of a rider on an appropriation bill which revived the grade of admiral for Dewey.

For the last four sessions of congress Mr. Moody has been a member of the insular affairs committee and has taken great interest in its work. He is regarded as one of the strongest members of the house. His committee assignments place him in direct touch with all great questions, and his mastery of them, together with his scholarly attainments, his ability of concise statement, easy and pleasant address and well modulated voice, makes him one of the most entertaining of speakers. It has been his custom while in Washington to occupy quarters jointly with Representative Gillett of Massachusetts, who is his closest friend.

In Washington Mr. Moody has made an enviable record as an indefatigable and brilliant worker, winning popularity and renown on every hand. His vigor, clear headliness, fearlessness and honesty are among the prominent characteristics that attracted the president's admiration. He has not hesitated to denounce from the floor of the house anything in legislation which he thought was wrong. He believes in the civil service law and has been one of its foremost champions.

Wiley Church Waitresses Caused a Shock.

The Methodist women of Norwich, N. Y., caused a sensation by advertising an oyster supper and announcing as the special feature of the entertainment that all women who waited on the table would wear bloomers.

The staid matrons of the denomination were inexpressibly shocked, and tickets for the supper were at a premium. Before the doors were opened more tickets were sold than the church could accommodate. There was a rush for the tables, and then it was seen the smiling waitresses were in ordinary garb, and that the bloomers consisted of roses pinned in their belts.

How It Happened.

"It was kinder funny—that is overlooking the seriousness of it," said the landlord of the Pettysville tavern. "You see, Miss Gabriella Lanks, who has not meanin' any disrespect to her, you understand—been an old maid so long that it's generally believed to be chronic, approached the railroad crossin' and a brakenum waved a red flag at her to warn her of the danger. She thought he was tryin' to flirt with her, and advanced toward him with a smile; and a enbouse that was buckin' up struck her good and plenty. Luckily, no bones were broken; and the first thing she said when she recovered consciousness was: 'Oh, this is so sudden!'" April Smart Set.

FIFTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

In the senate on the 27th, discussion of the omnibus bill, Mr. Harris (R-N.Y.) supported the bill. Mr. Patterson (Col.), taking advantage of the liberal rules of the senate, sharply criticized methods by which the Panama canal was being built. In the house, Mr. Richardson (Conn.) created a sensation by presenting charges of corruption on a fund of $500,000 in connection with the sale of the Hawaiian Islands, contained in the alleged recent report of Gen. Walter Henshaw to the Danish government, which declared that he had employed corrupt means to bring the acquisition for the sale to a consummation. Mr. Richardson moved the adoption of a resolution for the appointment of an investigation committee, which, after some opposition, was agreed to.

The senate was not in session on the 28th. In the house the day was devoted to the passage of private pension bills. 215 bills were passed. Only in the session a number of minor bills were passed. The sundry civil appropriation bill was reported, and Mr. Cannon gave notice that he would call it on Monday. The president's policy with regard to the veto of bills to remove his choice of desertion from the record of soldiers was the cause of considerable discussion during the day.

The senate was not in session on the 29th. In the house the day was devoted to consideration of the bill to increase the number of the judges of the circuit courts, which, however, was not completed. The opening ceremony was made by Mr. Sherman (N. Y.), speeches were made in the favor of Messrs. Minor, Latta and J. Smith (Mich.), and against it by Messrs. Richardson, Curtis (Ark.), Cochran (Mo.) and Mann (Ill.).

In the senate, on the 29th, the entire day was given to consideration of the omnibus bill. Mr. Sherman (N. Y.) delivered a powerful argument against the bill, and Messrs. Dillingham (Vt.) and McCumber (N. D.) delivered strong speeches in advocacy of it. In the house consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was begun, and the general debate on the bill was continued. The chairman of the ways and means committee, Mr. Cannon (Ill.), called the bill, and gave notice that he would call it up on the 30th.

In the senate, on the 31st, continued debate on the bill was held. The measure being frequently brought up, Mr. Bailey (Tex.) was speaking and the bill was not yet passed. In the house rapid progress was made on the sundry civil appropriation bill, 80 of the 125 pages of the bill being passed. The bill was passed by a vote of 215 yeas to 150 nays, as a rule by Mr. Cannon (Ill.), chairman of the appropriations committee. The proceedings were without incident.

THE ORVILLE LYONS MURDER.

Testimony of a Witness Who Was Four Years Old When Crime Was Committed.

Ava, Mo., April 1.—In the trial here of James Wilson, charged with the murder, in 1895, of Orville Lyons, a neighboring farmer, the taking of testimony was begun yesterday. W. H. Lyons, son of the deceased, testified that he was four years old at the time of the murder. He saw his father and some men come up the road; heard a gunshot and saw his father dead; he also saw the men leave. T. H. Andrews testified that he had a talk with Wilson regarding the killing of Lyons. The defense is trying to prove that Wilson's connection with the murder is a case of mistaken identity.

THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1902.

A MERCHANT sometimes stops his advertisement to a paper because he can't see nine dollars coming in for every one he pays out. He don't seem to think it is of any benefit to him to live in a town with a good, live newspaper. A good newspaper is a benefit to a town and community the same as a church or school and does as much good.

It advertises, enlivens and builds up a town and keeps it from being forgotten. There are only two things a man is really compelled to have, and that is food and clothing. He is not obliged to support a church or a school or a newspaper; he can use his own discretion in the matter but it is just as much his duty to support the one as the other.

In the heart of darkest Africa the people have none of these institutions and yet they live some way, some how. It is true they sometimes eat each other and indulge in other heathenish practices, but they do not have to support a newspaper or attend church. As a matter of course a town can drag out a dull, lifeless existence without a paper or church or school, but as the cycles of years roll onward the natives of that town will fall below those of her sister towns who have these institutions in morals, wealth and spirituality. No business man, no town, no city, no country can possibly live and thrive without a patronage, and the man who thinks every time he pays ten cents for one inch space in a newspaper he should get fourteen customers has but a poor conception of the true benefits derived from supporting a good live paper in his town.

It is generally conceded among men of best thought, that a newspaper best serves the people when it tells the happenings of the world as they are and as they should be. The preachers and reformers are supposed to cover the field of reform and the newspaper frequently touches upon the same theme, but in the news columns facts should be stated just as they are without comment.

This does not mean that the columns of a newspaper should be filled with improper language or that things should be told there which the young and guileless should not know, nor does it mean that the space should be given over to sensationalism after the manner of the yellow journals. Hunting up and printing sensations merely for the sake of the sensation is abominable and reprehensible and no modern newspaper of standing does it, but there is not a successful newspaper of today that does not print the news from day to day just as happens.

True some cases have to be handled with great care but it is folly to say that a newspaper worthy the name does not print the news. The people want to know what is going on in the world around them, that is the chief reason they take the paper and it is the province and the duty of a good newspaper to supply that want in a clean legitimate manner.

Tried Friends Best.

Forty-three years Tott's Pills have proven a blessing to the invalid. Are truly the sick man's friend.

A Known Fact
For bilious headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, malaria, constipation and all kindred diseases
TUTT'S LIVER PILLS
AN ABSOLUTE CURE.

Our Influence.

No man liveth to himself and no man dieth to himself? is another way of saying that every man is in some sense his brother's keeper—is in some degree responsible for his moral and spiritual growth and social happiness. We are as dependent on each other for our moral and spiritual growth and social stimulus as we are for part of that which makes physical strength and pleases the palate.

There is no such thing as absolute independence. Some people are, however, more independent than others. Some assume greater responsibilities than others, but there comes a time to every man and woman when they need each other. Of a failure to recognize this spirit of dependence and responsibility was born that truth uttered so many years ago by the immortal Burns, "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." When we give of the best of our own natures to help another, we not only contribute to that one person's enjoyment but we give that union toward making the world a pleasanter place for us to live in.

It is the direct influence of the sun upon the earth which draws from the latter so many beautiful offerings—tokens of God's love to man—and it is the influence of love on human nature that draws from it its richest treasures. Only a little while longer and the kindly sun will have warmed away the winter wind. Only a few days have passed since the Easter flowers told far better than the tongues of men, the story of Resurrection morn. So may there come to all men some gladdening influence to charm away the winter of sorrow and discontent and arouse the spirit to a new life of hope and ambition made active by brotherly love.

Why He Didn't Jump.

Here is one that a young man who knows a good story when he hears it heard one railroad man tell another in a depot up the line the other day:

"We picked up a new Irishman somewhere up county and set him to work brakin' on a construction train ten cents a mile for wages. One day when him and me was one the train she got away on one of them mountain grades, an' the first thing we knowed she was flyin' down the track at about ninety miles an hour, with nothin', in sight but the ditch an' the happy huntin' grounds, when we come to the end. I twisted 'em down as hard I could all along the tops, then of a sudden I see Mike crawlin' along toward the end of one of the cars on all fours, with his face the color of milk. I thought he was gettin' ready to jump an' I see his finish if he did.

"Mike, I says, for heaven's sake don't jump!"

"He clamps his fingers on the runnin' board to give him a chance to round an' lookin' at me contemptuous, answers:

"Jump, is it? Do yez think I'd be after jumpin' an' me makin' money as fast as I am?"—Portland Oregonian.

In the city of Pittsburgh a large stone church has been moved a distance of several squares. Why then should such a fuss be made over the proposed removal of the Borguense picture gallery from Italy to this country?

Colombia can't capture any missionaries, but there are other ways of raising money.

METHUEN'S CAREER.

British General Who Has Many Times Been Defeated by Boers. Fighting the Boers in South Africa is a species of diversion not calculated to commend itself to those on pleasure bent, nor does it add glory to military reputations. Among the British commanders who have opened in South Africa none has suffered more loss of prestige than Lieutenant General Lord Methuen, whose late defeat and capture by General De la Rey has called attention to his previous misfortunes in the war.

General Methuen was the commander who led the British army sent to the relief of Kimberley in 1900. His first battle in this campaign was at Belmont, where he captured the Boer position, but only after losing 250 men. At Oudpost he encountered General De la Rey and again suffered heavy losses.

Continuing his march, General Methuen engaged the Boers at Modder River, where his losses aggregated 452 men after a ten-hour fight. On Dec. 11 the battle of Magersfontein was fought, when the British loss was 850. Among the slain were Major General Waghorn, one of the most distinguished officers of the British army, and the Marquis of Winchester, premier marquis of England. After this defeat General Lord Roberts was sent to South Africa and finally relieved Kimberley.

Paul Sanford Methuen is the third son of Lord Methuen. He succeeded to the title in 1901. He is fifty-seven years old and entered the army in 1864. He served with distinction in the Ashanti war and also in Egypt, where he fought at Kamassain and Tel-el-Kebir. Later he went to Bechuanaland, where he commanded a troop of horse and a field force. In 1890 Lord Methuen was made a major general.

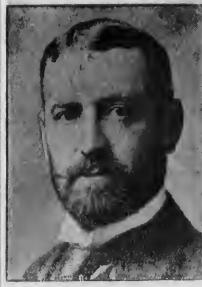

After Magersfontein there was much comment in England on his being allowed to retain his command, but in the United States it is stated, kept him in his position. Lord Methuen has been a lieutenant general since 1890. He has been frequently mentioned in dispatches for bravery.

Her Nickel was Brass.

All is not woe and lamentation and profanity on the transit company's street cars. Occasionally there is a smile.

The other day a respectable old lady boarded an Olive street car at Leffingwell avenue, and when the conductor came through she handed him what she supposed was a nickel and sank back into her seat. The conductor looked at it and then at her, but he could not get her attention. After an instant of indecision he said:

"Madam, I am very sorry, but this is not a nickel," starting to hand it back.

"Not a nickel?" she exclaimed.

"What is it?"

"It's a beer check," said the conductor.

There was a smile around, but this story did not end as they usually do in such cases. The old lady bravely accepted the situation—and the brass check—and kept her seat to the end of her journey—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

SHORT LOCALS.

Rev. J. D. Walsh will preach at the M. P. church Friday night, April 4. All are cordially invited to attend.

Don't forget what was said in last week's issue about cleaning up your premises. It is very essential to your health and the health of the town.

Will Lafouss has bought a lot in Dawson and is erecting a brick house on it. He expects to engage in the mercantile business there in the future.

The handsome new M. E. Church, South, was formally opened at Madisonville last Sunday and quite a number of Earlington people attended.

The work on C. H. McGary's new house has been started and will be pushed as rapidly as possible. Charlie wishes to be able to move in by the first of June.

Barnett & Arnold have purchased ticket Todd's blacksmith shop and will combine it with the one they now own. This will give them one of the best shop stands in Earlington.

Some of our citizens are preparing their gardens and others have already planted a few early seeds. If any of these seed happen to sprout this kind of weather it will be necessary to cover them with a blanket.

Tom Porter and Albert Keown went hunting Tuesday. They put in a half a day, walked seven or eight miles through the raw wind and returned at night footsore and weary, with an English sparrow and two crows.

Ell Perkins the well known humorist lecturer arrived in the city Wednesday evening and will entertain the Earlington public at Temple Theatre tonight with his famous lecture "Stories around the stove."

We have in this issue an ad from Bishop & Co., an old reliable and well known firm of Madisonville, also one for the Hurwitz Clothing Store and will in the next issue begin one for Dulin & McLeod and several other firms of that town. These merchants evidently know the value of THE BEE as an advertising medium and are taking advantage of it.

Caution!
This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for 75c the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1860 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Roscoe's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup—and especially for Consumption—there is a difficult expectation and coughing during the nights and morning, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Sweet Clover," at Morton's opera house, Madisonville, Tuesday night, has been set down as perhaps the most excellent of the many choice attractions Mr. Morton has presented during the present season. The attraction was heralded in advance as one of high rank and the people filled the house comfortably to their own great pleasure. Miss Thurman in the leading role was inspiringly beautiful and her acting was superb. Her support seemed to lack nothing. Mr. Morton will next season probably put on fewer attractions and present only those of the highest class that his patronage will permit.

Quo Vadis was an agreeable surprise to Earlington theatre goers and the packed house to which the company played left the Temple theatre in the leading attraction in its original form. It seemed really remarkable that a few good players could give so creditable a production. It was well done.

Remember the Art Entertainment of Tableaux Vivants, fancy drills, etc., in preparation by the ladies of Earlington, the leading attraction at Temple theatre next week. Full notice in another column.

Y. M. C. A. at Dawson.

Next Sunday will be Young Men's Sunday at Dawson. John Lake, of Louisville, and H. B. Ashby, J. Bailey and T. C. O'Bryan, of Madisonville, will be present and address a meeting for men and boys only at 2:30 p. m. at the Christian church, Dawson. The meeting for everyone at the same place at 7:30 p. m. Do not fail to attend one or both, if possible, of these meetings. This is a great work and aids materially in the uplifting of any place. Every town that has a live, energetic Y. M. C. A. is in a live, progressive way. Don't fail to attend, Dawsonians, as you will regret it if you do.

Dreadful Attack of Whooping Cough
Mrs. Ellen Harrison, of 300 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a severe attack of whooping cough. One of them in the paroxysms of coughing would often faint and bleed at the nose. We tried everything we heard of without getting relief. We then called in a family doctor who prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar. With the very first dose they began to improve and we feel that it has saved their lives. Refuse substitutes.

"A neighbor ran in with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with my son suffering with severe cramps and was given up as beyond hope by my regular physician who stands high in his profession. We would like to ask, through the columns of your paper, if there is any person who has used Dr. August Flower for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Live Troubles that has not been cured—and we also mean their results, such as sour stomach, fermentation of food, habitual constipation, nervous depression, sleeplessness—in fact, any trouble connected with the stomach or liver? This medicine has been sold for many years in all civilized countries and we wish to correspond with you and send you one of our books free of cost. If you ever tried August Flower, try one bottle first. We have never known of its failing. If so, something more serious is the matter with you. Ask your oldest druggist.

The Threat of a Lance is scarcely more agonizing than the recurrent pains in the abdomen which follow the eating of improper food or too free indulgence in ice-cream. The immediate cause of cramps and colic is the irritation of the bowels by gas. Quick relief follows the use of Chamberlain's Painkiller. Careful housekeepers give it the place of honor in the family medicine chest.

Don't despair because you are not beautiful. To be neat and loyal is possible to all women.

He Kept His Leg

Twelve years ago J. W. Sullivan, of Hackett, Conn., scratched his legs with a rusty wire. Inflammation and blood poisoning set in. For years he has suffered miserably. Then the best doctors urged amputation, "but" he writes, "I used one bottle of Electric Bitters and 1½ boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve and my leg was sound and well as ever." For eruptions, Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Sores and all blood disorders Electric Bitters has no rival on earth. Try them. St. Bernard Drug Company will guarantee satisfaction or refund money. Only 50 cents.

Don't forget that between love and indifference lies the kingdom of hatred.

A VALUABLE MEDICINE

For Coughs and Colds in Children.
"I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Chas. M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watch maker, of Colombo, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as pleased as myself over the results." For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Earlington; Ben T. Robinson, Morton Gap; Geo. THEN IT'S SPRING.

BY TIMMIE.

When the rays begin to rise,
When the wild geese northward flies,
When we hear the robin's cries—
Then it's spring.

When the horsemen advertise,
When the swallow mounts the skies,
When the children make mud pies—
Then it's spring.

When the hens all do their best,
When the small boy sheds his vest
And takes a nap cold in his chest—
Then it's spring.

When the geese begin to nest,
When the frogs wake from their rest
And each one croaks his very best—
Then it's spring.

When the horse begins to shed,
When pigs tear up their head,
When the goblins necks turn red—
Then it's spring.

When the farmer plows the ground,
When the crows are circling 'round
And the crows cannot be found—
Then it's spring.

When the small boy grabs a pole,
Hies him to the fishing hole
And returns with a bad cold—
Then it's spring.

When the fish begin to bite
And the bugs fly at night
And the rooster wants to fight—
Then it's spring.

When the chicks begin to peep,
When the farmer shears his sheep,
When the sweet milk falls to keep—
Then it's spring.

When we don our lighter clothes,
And maidens wear dropstitch hose
And go angling for beans—
Then it's spring.

HOW PATRICK FOOLED 'EM.

The Man Convicted of Planning William Marsh Rice's Murder Married.

'T WAS DONE RIGHT IN THE TOMES PRISON

A Contract Duly Entered Into in the Presence of Witnesses and Signed in Duplicate That Is Good Under the New York Law Remained a Year Ago.

New York, April 1.—Albert T. Patrick, who was convicted, on Wednesday last, of the murder of William M. Rice, and Mrs. Adelle M. Franch, with whom Patrick, located up to the time of his arrest, were married in the Tomes Sunday. "The marriage was made by contract in accordance with law passed by the legislature of this state in 1901, providing for the legalization of contract marriages entered into before two witnesses. The law directs that such contract must be filed within six months after its execution in the office of the clerk of the town or city in which the marriage took place.

The legal witnesses to the ceremony were Patrick's father and his sister, Mrs. Emma Patrick. Others present were Patrick's little daughter and Samuel B. Thomas, an attorney who was called in as Mrs. Franch's legal adviser.

Samuel B. Thomas, attorney for Mrs. Franch, made the following statement:

"As counsel for Mrs. Franch, I advised her that the contract marriage was absolutely valid and binding. Mrs. Franch had been engaged to Mr. Patrick since 1908 in his own intention to be married on the day of Patrick's execution, but as the verdict was against him, this plan could not be carried out. They were married properly and legally, and as his wife, Mrs. Adelle Franch Patrick, can visit him when he is confined in the Tomes house, which would have been denied her otherwise."

Arrangements were so perfectly made, so secretly planned, and so cleverly executed, that not until the marriage was irrevocably complete were Patrick's guards cognizant that he was ever introduced.

Enormous Damage Caused in the Southern States by Overflowing Rivers.

LOSSES WILL REACH FOUR MILLIONS.

The List of Casualties Quite Heavy, the Dead This Far Reported Being All Negroes—The Work of Destruction Still Going on—Railroad Traffic Nearly at a Standstill.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 30.—A special to the News from Harrison, Tenn., says: Harrison was destroyed by the flood on account of overflow of the Emory river. The damage is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars. It is reported that two lives were lost and many more are supposed to have been drowned. It is estimated that from 40 to 50 houses at Oakdale and Harrison were washed away. The tunnel at Junction, on the Cincinnati Southern railway, fell in. The plant of the Vestel Lumber Co., was destroyed, the Hoe and Tool Co. was badly damaged, the planing mill is wrecked and the tannery suffered heavily. The floating lumber, houses and debris knocked down a part of the bridge and washed it away. The loss to Harrison is terrible.

PEARL RIVER ON A RAMPAGE.
Damage Done at Jackson, Miss., and Vicinity.

Jackson, Miss., March 30.—Swollen by the rains of the past few days, Pearl river is on a rampage to-night, having risen five feet in the last 13 hours. The waters of the overflow reached the waterworks, two miles below this city to-night, and swept away the brick walls of the pumping station, destroying a 30-foot circular dam in which the engine and boiler was located. The waterworks probably can supply no water before Thursday.

It is reported many cattle have perished in the flood.

NEARLY A MILLION DOLLARS.
Heavy Losses in Tenn. and Morgan Counties—All Not Known.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 31.—Loss by flood which swept Emory valley, Saturday, may reach nearly a million dollars in Tenn. and Morgan counties when the full story is known. The flooded section of Harrison presented a desolate appearance to-day.

The majority of the homeless are housed in the gymnasium of the American Temperance university.

A GRAVE INQUIRY.
Twenty-Two Lives Are Known to Have Been Lost.

Nashville, Tenn., March 31.—Reports from the flooded districts of Tennessee emphasize the gravity of the situation. The damage resulting from the flood is believed to reach $2,000,000, while 22 lives are known to be lost.

Several counties certain to have suffered heavily are yet out of communication, an loss in property and life may go higher than these figures. The Louisville & Nashville railroad is running a few trains from here to Louisville, 18 miles south of Columbia, while the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis has also succeeded in getting through to Murfreesboro.

The section visited by the flood embraces one of the richest portions of the state, and due to farm lands is a serious item. It includes counties lying between the mountains on the east and the Tennessee river and the Alabama line. Store fences that have stood the storms of 40 years were washed away in many of the well-known river-side farms. Lincoln county and crops destroyed.

The bridge of the Nashville & Knoxville railroad at Lancaster, a 300-foot span, said to have cost $100,000, went down Saturday night.

It was predicted at Carthage that the Cumberland would go beyond the flood tide of 1902. If such be the case the work of destruction is not yet over.

There is no communication with London, in Perry county, or with Lynchburg in Moore, but both sections are believed to be seriously damaged. From figures available the following fatalities are given:

Pulaski, 11—Houston Connor, Sarah Phillips, John Cole, wife and three children, Birk White, wife and two children, all colored, and negro baby, Lewisburg, 3—Anna Robinson's two children and Joe McCallahan, all colored.

Murfreesboro—Williams (a girl), colored.

LESSON I, SECOND QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, APRIL 6.

Text of the Lesson, Acts 1: 1-20.
Memory Verse, 2nd-Golden Text, Acts 1: 11, 12-14.
Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stenra.

(Copyright, 1902, by American Press Association.)

1. Saul yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord.

What an evil breath he had! The word translated "breathing out" is used only this once and means to breathe in or out, to breathe. His very life was to hate Christ and Christians, and yet the time came when he could truly say, "For me to live is Christ" (Phil. 1, 21). Our first introduction to him is in chapters vii, 58; viii, 1, 3, in connection with the death of Stephen and the persecution following, which at that time was going on. Saul's own account of his life in those days is found in chapters xiii, 3, 4; xxi, 1-11; Gal. 1, 13, 14, in 1 Eph. 1, 1-5, in connection with his being under the power of the power of the air.

2. Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

Thus spake Jesus of Nazareth to him in the Hebrew language (xxi, 14) and arrested him in his mad career, for God had determined concerning him, "Hitherto shalt thou come, but no further" (Job xxxviii, 11). Whoever touches a Christian touches Christ Himself, but not even the devil can go one step beyond God's permission (Job 1, 10; Dan. ix, 35; Zech. 1, 8). Though it was midday, the light of heaven was above the brightness of the sun, and Saul could not see for the glory of that light (xxi, 13; xlii, 11, 13, 14). The Lord said, I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest.

He recognizes a superior and neta. "Who art thou, Lord?" Saul asks him with trembling and astonishment, for Jesus of Nazareth is actually speaking to him. Seeing him to be indeed the Christ, the Messiah, whom the prophets had foretold, he at once acknowledges him as Lord and meekly asks what he is now to do. Thus Saul's heart is torn as a nation he surprised some day, and, looking upon him whom they pierced, they shall be filled with true penitence and, accepting him as their long expected Messiah, shall say: "Lo, this is our God. We have waited for him, and he will save us" (Zech. xii, 10; Isa. xlv, 1). Saul's conversion was a pattern or type of the conversion of the nation (1 Tim. 1, 16).

3. Saul was three days without sight and neither did eat nor drink.

The men who were with him fell to the earth, seeing the light and being afraid. They also heard the voice of some one speaking, but did not hear the words, for those were for Saul only. Compare xxi, 8; xxi, 14. 1. Saul really saw Jesus is evident from verses 17 and 1 Cor. xvi, 8. What Jesus said to Saul as he commanded him to rise and stand upon his feet is fully stated in Paul's testimony before Agrippa in Acts 13: 9-18. Consider him three days blind and fasting, the world shut out, the body mortified, dying to self, God dealing with his soul. It is the period of death preceding resurrection (Gen. xvi, 4; xlii, 17; John 11, 17; Hos. vi, 2; John 11, 19; Rev. xi, 11).

12-14. Inquire in the Bible of Jesus for one called Saul of Tarsus, for behold, he prayeth.

Thus said the Lord to Ananias, a devout disciple and one who had a good report of all the Jews at Damascus (xxi, 12). He, like Philip in a previous lesson, is prompt and obedient, one on whom the Lord could rely to do his bidding. His reply reminds us of Samuel and Isaiah (1 Sam. ix, 4, 6, 8, 10; Isa. vi, 8). These three days find Saul and his Lord in intimate communion. Saul talks with the Lord, and the Lord in vision reveals himself more fully to Saul. From Jesus Christ by revelation he received the gospel and from him also all his future instruction (Gal. 1, 11, 12, 13, 16).

12-14. He is a chosen vessel unto me to bear my name.

Ananias hesitates just a little—he thinks of Saul's reputation and authority and his madness against Christians. The Lord graciously bears with Ananias in his objections, but respects his command to go and assures him that Saul is to be his special messenger to the Gentiles. One would think that the Lord's first assurance to Ananias that the persecutor was praying would have been sufficient encouragement, but we are so slow to expect wonders from him whose name is Wonderful. Saul is not only chosen to bear the name of Christ, but also to suffer, for faithfulness to Christ and suffering for him are inseparable. Connected in this present evil age, while the whole world lieth in the wicked one (Gal. 1, 4; 1 John v, 19, R. V.). See also John xv, 18, 19; xvi, 33; Phil. 1, 29; 11 Tim. 3, 12; 12, 12, but be encouraged by Rom. viii, 18; 1 Cor. x, 12.

15-18. Receive thy sight and be filled with the Holy Ghost.

Thus said Ananias to Saul as, having found him just where the Lord said he would, he put his hands upon him and told of the Lord's commission. He received sight, both natural and spiritual, confessed Christ in baptism, took food for the body and was strengthened and immediately preached in the synagogues that Jesus of Nazareth is the Christ, the Son of God. Old things are passed away, all things are become new, the Spirit has clothed himself with Saul (Judg. vi, 34, R. V., margin) and now henceforth he does but one thing, knows but one Master, and for him is ready to lay down his life.

C. Nure and Jas. Dunlap spent Easter in Princeton, Ind. They report a pleasant, snowy time.

Among the Churches.

Next Sunday is rally day. The pastor, Rev. S. P. Tandy, and members of C. M. E. church will make an effort to lift a collection for the completion of their church. They have done well, and there is but a small remainder they should be encouraged.

The Easter exercises at A. M. E. Z. church were well attended. Collection $11.40 for the day. Easter offering $9. Roxie Watson won first prize for raising most money by soliciting and Lazelle Gough second prize.

A preacher said if the Earlington people will give half of the money they spent at Madisonville every pay day and at the theatre it would put all the churches in splendid order.

der. I offer an amendment to the statement. The money spent for whiskey and tobacco, which destroy soul and body, would build handsome stone churches and furnish them with the best furniture, heat them with steam and light them with electricity; and the money spent for dead birds, silks, embroidery, lace and braids worn by Christian women would build handsome brick school houses, furnish them with all the moderate apparatus and a good team left. Are you ready for the question?

If Christ came to Earlington He would find good churches, the members well dressed, splendid music, but few if any real conversions and no secesses.

He would find the prayer meeting seats vacant, and especially if there be any amusement in town.

He would find many professors but few possessors of true religion.

He would find much being done to comfort the body, but little for the soul.

He would find great plans to dignify this short life, but few plans to dignify the life to come.

We hope He will not come on opera night.

Good for Rheumatism

Last fall I was taken with a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism which caused me great pain and annoyance. After trying several prescriptions and rheumatic cures, I decided to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I had seen advertised in the South Jerseyman. After two applications of this remedy I was much better, and after using one bottle was completely cured.—SALUPE HARRIS, Salem, N. J. For sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Earlington; Ben T. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Teale For Week Beginning April 6.

Comment by Rev. H. H. 12, 13, 14.

Texting in 1 Cor. 13: 1-13.

1 Cor. 13: 1, 2; Eph. 4: 1-3.

The word grace has two meanings in the Scriptures. First, the great unmerited favor by which God saves us.

"By grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God."

Second, grace refers to the forgiveness of the Spirit in the heart, and manifested life of the believer.

The word was used in the typical reference has the latter meaning.

To grow in grace means to grow in the graces which under the blessing of the Spirit come to make the Christian character all that it ought to be.

The duty of Christian growth is frequently emphasized in the Scriptures.

Christ had much to say about growth and advancement in the Christian life.

Paul eloquently pleaded for it, and here Peter joins his exhortation with those of the Master.

Let us to the gentiles, "Grow in grace" is his command in his second epistle, and that "grace" is multiplied in his readers.

His reason was his presence in his first epistle. This constant emphasis of growth by the great Christian teachers is a proof of its importance.

Let us to the gentiles, if a time could come in our lives when grace could not be multiplied in us, then the command to grow would be without meaning to us.

But such a realization is impossible in this life, at least in the view of the great apostles. Paul served God with peculiar devotion and zeal for three-score years, and yet he knew nothing about the modern doctrine of perfectionism.

Perfection is impossible in this side eternity, and therefore growth in grace is an imperative necessity until the end of time.

Growth in grace is a safeguard against the lack of steadfastness. "He," says the apostle, "test ye also, being led away with the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness. But (that you may not fall) grow in grace."

Growth is absolutely necessary to steadfastness. We cannot stand still in the Christian life and character.

We will grow or decline in grace, and that we may not decline, but may be steadfast and immovable, we should constantly advance in grace and in the service of God.

"I'll we come in the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God unto a perfect man unto the measure of the stature of Christ."

This is the goal toward which we strive. All the means of grace are for "the perfecting of the saints, which work goes on until the end of life, when 'the souls of believers are made perfect in holiness and do immediately pass into glory.'"

RULE READINGS.

Pa. 1, 1-6; III, 7-9; Jer. xli, 1, 2; Hos. xiv, 5-7; Mal. iv, 1, 2; Matt. xli, 1, 9; Mark iv, 26-29; Luke 1, 80; Eph. ii, 10-20; Phil. ii, 12-14; II Thess. 1, 8.

Peace.

Thus will keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee.—Isa. xlvii, 2.

Looking down from a height on a broad river that is so peaceful it reflects all the boats floating upon its surface and the overhanging foliage like a mirror, the thought came—What a beautiful illustration it is of the human heart! The stream is calm now, but is quickly ruffled by a passing breeze, even growing into wild billows that dangerously toss every vessel that sails upon it. When the heart is not stayed on God, it is swayed by passing breezes that blow from every quarter in this world where public opinion rules with such power, and, like the winds blowing over a forest, heart-like skirts, are blown higher and thinner. But when the mind is stayed on God, then not only peace, but "perfect peace" is promised. What great rewards our Lord gives for our faith in him! Surely they are from "His riches in glory."

To remain peaceful amid trials of every kind, knowing by heart that the Lord overrules and that He is waiting to reveal hidden blessings while we wait before Him, is the joy in peace, just as the fruit is laid within the blossom. Our Father never bestows a lonely blessing. It is blessing within blessing always.—Presbyterian Banner.

Be Reconciled to God.

The shame and curse of the world is that it is alienated from God. That alienation is the curse of human degradation and misery, and a supreme duty and a high and peculiar privilege of the followers of Christ are to beseech men, in Christ's stead, to be reconciled to God. In all ages the path to that reconciliation has led through the gate of repentance. It has been the result of being born again by the spirit of God, which has given us a spiritual man and a lover of God and the servant of Christ.—Christian Intelligencer (Baptist).

A Rule of Life.

To work fearlessly, to follow earnestly, to rest truthfully, to rest in confidence in God's guidance, to leave one's lot willingly and heartily to Him, this is my sermon to myself. If I find I live more within sight of heaven, we should care less for the turmoil of earth.—"Letters of John Richard Green."

Give Him the Best Part.

Would our friends love us very much if we only went to them when we were sad? They want us most when we are joyful, and so does Jesus. Let us give Him, then, the best part of our nature, and we will be rewarded.—Presbyterian Journal.
